

SOMETHING NEW

On Monday, 21st of September, the majority of the year 6/7s started our way to Canberra to learn about Australian history and democracy.

I enjoyed all things we did. We were doing about 4 things a day altogether but my 3 favourite things were:

Telstra Tower. This was my third favourite thing out of it with the high view. So big that you could see the ACT. The Telstra Tower was responsible for great view photos but unfortunately we couldn't go up to the very top because the place was chained, but in the end, the view was better than mount Ainslie.

Me on the flying fox

I felt particularly happy and excited for most of the time but sometimes bored especially on the bus trips. At the start I was worried, but as soon as the first song on my playlist came on, I knew I was going to have a good time.

Questacon. Questacon was my second favourite place. It was all about scientific conclusions and how they work. In my opinion the three best things were: The earthquake room, the caged lightning and the big drop. The big drop was great.

Although it's fun when you fall your heart starts racing but altogether, it's a great experience.

Ethan, Kane and I at the national exhibition centre

The war memorial was my FAVOURITE place. It's not just a great experience, but it also reflects on the sick, vicious animals us humans are. It's sad to know that some politicians actually believe that some races are different or an assassination was to encourage them to start a war and stuff like that. Very sad.

In conclusion, Canberra was a great excursion that I'll never forget. Of course and when I say this I think I say this for everyone: Thank you for a great experience, senior teachers of 2015.

Harry and I about to go in the old parliament house

Josh, Harry Ethan and I having lunch at the carrilion